

From Poverty to Security?

Opportunity to take part in graphic design workshop sessions

- How might we solve the problems of poverty and insecurity?
- What might politicians and others do to address these problems?
- Do you have experiences of poverty and thoughts on what could improve your situation?
- What do you think could make a real improvement to the lives of those living with poverty and insecurity?

If you've got views on any of these questions, then we'd love to hear from you.

We're working with Thrive Teeside to organise two workshops to talk about possible solutions to poverty and insecurity. At the workshops, we will discuss what solutions might address the problems of poverty and insecurity. We will also work with a graphic designer to create a visual image or diagram (aka 'infographic') that sets out what participants in the workshop think is most important in trying to solve these problems.

You'll get the chance to learn more about the process of creating these images, and meet up with people who may have had similar experiences to you.
